OYAMA, Aug. 4.—Plans for the annual Bazaar, the date for which has been set for November 29, were discussed at the regular meeting of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, held at the home of Mrs. W. Walker, on August 2, Mrs. A. G. R. Prickard presiding and 16 members attending. Each member is being asked to contribute something to sell and put their own price on it. This is instead of the usual distribution of sewing. Mrs. A. Gray offered her home for the next meeting to be held on November 1. Mrs. W. Hayward assisted as hostess. No meetings will be held during September and October. Tea was served by Mrs. D. Eyles and Mrs. L. Tompkins after the meeting adjourned.

Shooting Stars Make Vivid Night Display at Falkland

S. Morrison

Of Vancouver, and district engineer for B. C. lines of the C.N.R. since 1919, retired yesterday, August 16, after more than 39 years with the company.

FAULKLAND, Aug. 14.—The annual August display of Meteors was plainly visible here on the night of August 11. Shooting stars were seen falling at the rate of two or three a minute for a couple of hours between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. Many were followed by brilliant tails of light.

Haying operations locally are proceeding apace. The hot, dry weather is causing premature ripening in some cases. There appears wide variation in the quantity and quality of crops, depending on whether irrigation is used or not. Pest damage is severe where control measures are not adopted. Grasshoppers appear in increasing quantities. Signs on country roadsides point to severe tent caterpillar infestation next year and it is thought that the government should undertake control in time to prevent the outbreak.

Seen at the Servicemen's Dance on Saturday night were Pte. Ray Russell, Corporal Bert Ferguson, Gnr. Lester Blain, Pte. Leslie Currie and Pte. Ronnie Turner, all back home after long service overseas. The Air Force and Navy were also represented.

Mrs. Hixon and two children of Toronto are guests of Mrs. Hixon's mother, Mrs. Dixon, at Pillar Lake.

Sailing Signal Awaited by Many Brides

The 30,000 British brides of Canadian service men still in England, will have to wait for a few months before they can rejoin their soldier husbands in Canada. Lieut. M. A. Partington, Red Cross escorting officer who has recently completed three months' service on boats between Great Britain and Canada, has returned to her home in West Vancouver to wait until the government again starts the westward trek of soldiers dependents.

With every available ship being used at the present time to bring the thousands of women and children who are eagerly awaiting the trip to their new home, it will probably be several months before the Red Cross escort service is again put into use, Mrs. Partington states.

There have already been 14,318 wives and children brought to Canada, all under the supervision of the Red Cross officials. This service commences when the Red Cross takes over from the Canadian army wives bureau in England. Of these 641 wives and 415 children have come through Vancouver and are now living in this province.

Mrs. Partington reports that her experience with the 1,000 new citizens which she contacted during her escort duty, shows that most of them will definitely make good Canadian citizens. Health of the children is generally good and, at a baby show on one of the transports, health of the little war babies checked well with Canadian standards.

Now More Profit In Raising Hogs

When does it pay to raise hogs? Most farmers figure they can make a profit on hogs when the selling price is well above the cost of feed eaten by the hog. In this calculation they are right: feed is the biggest part of the cost of raising hogs. But as neither the cost of feed nor the price of hogs stays steady for long, there are times when hog raising is more profitable than others, and now is that time. Economists say that this is provided by the present hog-barter ratio, which is explained by Keith Leckie, a Dominion Department of Agriculture economist who was born and brought up on a western Ontario farm, which has always kept hogs, and has had more brood sows during the war than ever before, and several more this year than last. He describes the way he finds out when hog raising is profitable, under what he calls the Hog Feed Margin.

He figures that it takes about 14 bushels of barley to produce one hundred pounds of pork. So he multiplies by 14 the price of barley and subtracts this from the price paid per hundredweight for a 121 hog. The difference between these figures is the margin a farmer makes on selling barley as pork rather than as grain. And in his figuring, he takes into account the advance equalization payment made by the Dominion Government to western Canada barley growers and also the Dominion premium on quality hogs.

This calculation shows that for every hundredweight of pork a farmer produces he has a margin of $8.32 above the cost of the barley it took to produce that hundredweight of pork. Of course, that $8.32 is not all clear profit. Allowances must be made for labor and other expenses such as housing. But the point is that the margin of $8.32 a hundred—which is the present figure at Winnipeg—is now higher than it has been at any time since war began.

Now this margin of $8.32 may not hold all year. But to find a whole year when the Hog-Feed Margin averaged higher than at present, one has to go back to 1930. Labor costs are higher than they used to be. And so is the cost of building a new pig pen. But these are not big items in the cost of raising hogs. The biggest cost is feed, and there is more margin in feeding grain to hogs now than there has been in 15 years.

"SCIATIC PAIN hasn't bothered for Four Years now"

As he is getting on toward middle age this man is especially grateful for the way in which Kruschen helped his sciatic pain.

Here's what he says:

"At one time I suffered for months with sciatic and rheumatic pains and had to use a cane when I walked. But after taking Kruschen for a while I could manage without the cane. That was four years ago and since then I have had no return of the complaint nor have I lost a day's work. I shall never be without Kruschen and can honestly recommend it to anyone who suffers as I did." — Mr. G. F. Kruschen where sciatic and rheumatic pains were substantially relieved by a saline treatment—the taking of Kruschen. And isn't it logical to think that this fine old remedy may help you, too, if you are afflicted in much the same way? One month's perhaps less—should prove it. Take Kruschen faithfully for the next thirty days. Thousands of persons have benefited by taking Kruschen; give it a chance to help you, too! Kruschen is 25c. and 75c. at all drug stores.

Canadian, U.S. Casualties

Canadian casualties, and especially killed, in proportion to total population, are more severe than the American. Official figures are as follows:

	Killed	Wounded	Missing	POW	Total
U.S.	244,255	413,621	46,345	121,471	1,025,721
Canada	34,718	54,741	2,365	9,947	103,600
Canada	On Basis of Population	112,540	77,196	104,409	1,189,203

The higher proportion of Canadian killed to wounded is undoubtedly due to the fact that much of Canada's fighting was done in the air. More than a third of our dead so far have been air crew.

Car Thieves Arrested

Two soldiers, who were halted in an attempt to escape only after police had fired five warning shots at them, were fined $100 each and costs by Magistrate William Morley in District Police Court last Thursday for taking a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. They pleaded guilty to the charge.

The theft of the vehicle, owned by Bert Ellison, of Vernon, took place on the road bordering the head of Kalamalka Lake on Tuesday night of last week. The police carefully located the car after they "discovered" it the following day in the Commonage area.

The soldiers returned as expected. But after Constable Alex Krivenko stepped out from his place of cover, they abandoned the car and ran. Krivenko fired three shots. Sgt. R. Nelson, who was standing in a different place of cover, also fired warning shots.

Gave Themselves Up
Two soldiers stopped running and gave themselves up, while the third continued his flight and was arrested later at the army camp.

Convicted were L/Cpl. Norman Phinney and Pte. Richard Garton, both Pacific volunteers in training here. It was found that the third soldier, Pte. Alfred Muloch, had not taken part in the theft.

The two soldiers involved could have been charged with stealing the car and imprisoned. Pte. Muloch also could have faced a charge for his part in the final escape with the vehicle.

After sentence was passed, Sgt. Nelson commented that car thefts have become commonplace here in the past two months.

Sgt. Nelson stated the two men carefully locked the car after they had driven away in it. He said no damage was done and little gas used, which went in their favor.

Mr. Ellison said that he had intended to park only a short time to pick up friends who wished to return to town from a summer cottage on the lake shore. "I stayed longer than I expected," he told the police.

Car Owners Careless
Sgt. Nelson commented further that "keys are being carelessly left in too many stolen cars."

The soldiers said they realized the seriousness of their act after they had stolen the vehicle. They said they had been drinking at the beach just prior to stealing the car.

Sgt. Nelson noted that the place where they abandoned the car was as far from camp as the point from where it was stolen.

Dangerous Driving
A not guilty plea was entered Thursday morning by George M. Carter, of this city, who was charged with driving in a manner dangerous to the public. Gordon Lindsay was the defence counsel.

Evidence of the prosecution revealed that Carter was the driver of a vehicle which on Friday morning, August 3, about 4 a.m., was proceeding "quite fast" down Seventh Street hill and made a sharp turn to the left on Chapin Avenue. The vehicle continued the left turn instead of straightening out, then veered sharply to the right and ran headlong into two trees on the other side of the road.

Cpl. Clinton Rushe, of Vernon Camp, who was returning to his barracks on the hill, said he ran to the wreck. "A lady was getting out of the front seat. She fainted. Mr. Carter got out of the driver's seat and fell back unconscious for a few minutes. I called a doctor. Another couple was in the back seat," he said.

All four occupants of the car suffered facial cuts and other injuries.

Magistrate Morley gave Carter the benefit of the doubt and ruled an acquittal after hearing his evidence. He testified that he lost control of the vehicle when it was caught in loose gravel as he rounded the corner. "I put my foot on the accelerator instead of the brake," declared the defendant.

Sgt. R. S. Nelson prosecuted James A. Anderson, of the Okanagan Indian Reserve, was fined $15 and costs twice under two charges of making home brew beer. The home brew was found by the R.C.M.P. one lot just three days after the first.

A. C. Wilson Deeply Mourned
By Kedleston Neighbors

KEDLESTON, Aug. 11.—The community of Kedleston mourns the passing of A. C. Wilson, known as "Tug" to his friends and neighbors, on August 4, at the age of 53. Mr. Wilson had lived in the Kedleston district for a number of years and had a great love for the outdoors. After trying indoor occupations, as a younger man, he finally purchased large acreage in this district.

His great talent was for music. He was the "life and soul" of dances held in the School House when he played the banjo or the violin. Mr. Wilson's health had not been good for some time, so his daughter, Miss Hattie Wilson, who had stayed with him after her mother died recently, decided to move her father to Bob Wilson's ranch. Mr. Wilson passed away shortly afterwards. Miss Wilson has been her father's devoted companion and nurse for many years.

A brief biography of Mr. Wilson and details of his death last week, was carried in the August 9 issue of The Vernon News.

Two mysterious explosions wrecked the United States military government's police headquarters in Bremen, this week, killing at least 10 persons, German and American, and injuring 80 others.

Peachland Anglers "Warming Up" for O.K. Trout Derby

PEACHLAND, Aug. 14.—Two Rainbow Trout have been entered in the Okanagan Lake Trout Derby, the first by Mrs. Anne Small, 5 pounds, 12 oz., caught at the mouth of Trepauler Creek, with a Gibbs Martin Pig on copper line, on August 5, at 8:45 p.m. The second was caught by Mrs. A. J. Childie, 8 pounds, 12 oz., caught at the mouth of Trepauler Creek, on August 6, at 7:20 p.m. Lure used was a plug, the day was calm.

Pre-fabricated Houses May be Erected in City

Pre-fabricated homes have been allotted to Vernon by Pre-Fabricated Buildings, Vancouver, to be supplied within the next few weeks.

This announcement is made by G. A. E. Smith of Revelstoke, interior agent for the firm.

It has not been possible to supply even a small part of the civilian business until recently, as practically the entire output of Pre-Fabricated Buildings was taken for the armed forces. The available supply has now been allocated to various sections of the province.

Six of these houses have been allotted to Salmon Arm.

The houses of modern design and planning, consist of four and five rooms. Speed of construction is an important factor, and they can be completed ready for occupancy within a period of six weeks.

In addition to houses, the company also supplies two utility buildings suitable for garages or summer camps. There are also summer cottages and other structures available.

Well Known Railway Engineer Retires

R. C. Morris, district engineer for C.N. Lines, C.N.R., retired yesterday, August 15, after over 30 years in the service of the company.

He commenced his services on location at Stanley Junction, near Fort William, as level and transit man, on May 1, 1906. From this date to 1913, he was engaged on the location and construction of prairie lines, which he transferred to British Columbia as resident engineer on construction of the main line, near Alberta. From 1915 to 1919 he was engineer of maintenance, Kamloops division, moving to Vancouver in the latter year as district engineer.

Born in Egrement Township, Ontario, on August 15, 1890, Samuel Morris, a member of the Association of Professional Engineers, Vancouver, for many years, has spent a considerable part of his railroad career in the Rockies.

Few men have better knowledge of mountain railroading. A practical man, he took nothing for granted and was continually on the move making first hand personal inspection of his entire mileage which included Vancouver, Jasper, Jasper-Prince Rupert, Okanagan Valley and Vancouver Island lines.

He was married in 1913 to Mrs. Morris, nee Crick, and they have three children: a son, Robert, and two daughters, Jean and Margaret. Mr. Morris is a member of the B.C. Engineers' Association, and is a past president of the same.

Rutland Commended for Flower Show Exhibits

—Affair Opened By Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P.

RUTLAND, Aug. 13.—The annual Rutland Flower Show held in the Community Hall on August 9, under the auspices of the local Women's Institute was once again a very successful affair. Financially the Institute will show greater net receipts on this Flower Show than any of its previous efforts, though the number of exhibits was down somewhat, owing to the excessively dry summer.

The Flower Show was officially opened by the Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P., who complimented the ladies upon the enterprise they had shown in holding their Flower Show annually throughout the war. In recalling some of the early days of the district, Mr. Stirling noted the great changes that had taken place in the community since the days when he used to reside on the Belge, and was the district engineer for the B.M.I.D.

After the judging had been completed, the prizes were presented to the winners by Mrs. Stirling. There were 35 different classes and many excellent prizes were distributed.

Principal winners were Mrs. W. R. Craig, Mrs. A. S. Mills, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. J. Gervers. The Silver Cup for Sweet Peas was won by Mrs. James Smith, and the Silver Cup for Gladioli went to Mrs. A. S. Mills.

In the classes for children under 16 the principal prizes were taken by Miss Theresa Heltzman. Refreshments were served by the ladies and an apron stall operated. A draw also added to the interest, and increased the net returns, which will approximate $160. A percentage of the profits will be donated to the Red Cross for aid to children in the devastated countries of Europe. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Stirling at the close of the affair by Geraldine Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gray.

The Rutland Local, B.C.F.G.A., held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last at the Intake to the new low-level irrigation ditch on Mission Creek. About 25 persons attended, and viewed the new project and the tunnels, en route to the meeting after a short business meeting, at which arrangements were made for a picnic at the Summerland Experimental Station on August 28, the members sat around a camp-fire and partook of coffee, cake and sandwiches provided by H. L. Willets, and Mrs. A. W. Gray of the refreshment committee. Bertram Chichester supervised the camp-fire and the coffee-making in experienced backwoodsman style.

Water-users of the Black Mountain Irrigation District at a special meeting held in the Community Hall on August 6, voted to assess the bench lands an extra $5-per acre tax this fall, and the Rutland flat an extra $2 per acre to raise sufficient funds to complete the concreting of the new low-level ditch, and to make some improvements to the mile-long tunnel on this system.

The total amount to be raised by this assessment is $17,000. While the new system has been in use two seasons already, and the water supply greatly improved thereby, the ditch has never been used to capacity, due to fear of washouts on the unconcreted portion.

When this work is completed the old pipe line and flume from the North Fork of Mission Creek will be discarded. It is in bad repair, and the alternative to completing the work on the new ditch would have been to expend money on repairs to the old system, to be sure of adequate supplies of water next season. The original estimated cost of the low-level ditch was to have been $10,000, but already $142,000 had been expended upon it.

This increased cost was due in the main to a decision to put in more costly works of a permanent nature in place of the wooden flumes and earth ditch at first projected.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Cross and baby are spending a holiday visiting friends at Brooks, Alberta. The executive of the Rutland Park Society met at the pavilion on Tuesday evening, August 10, to hear the report of the committee in charge of the recent "Rally Day." The net proceeds of the day amounted to $1,417.68 and the executive decided to expend a portion of this on a water system, as the first step toward improving the park. Mr. Gray, George Mugford and Fred Wostradowski were appointed a committee to look into possible methods and costs and report to the next meeting of the executive.

V-J Hilarity Brings Fine to Two Soldiers

Two soldiers, apprehended by military police in connection with breakage of windows at the Vernon liquor store and adjacent buildings in Sunday evening's premature V-J celebration here, were convicted of willful damage by Magistrate William Morley in City Police Court on Tuesday morning.

Convicted were Cpl. George King and Pte. J. Dyzkowski, members of a Pacific Infantry Training Battalion. King was fined $15 and costs, while Dyzkowski was ordered to pay $10 and costs. Arrangements were made to pay the fines. Both also were ordered to pay damages amounting to $20 each.

Dyzkowski was apprehended by provosts when an armed guard was placed around buildings where windows were broken. Tension was high and windows were still being broken by rocks when the provosts hustled the soldier away.

Cpl. King pleaded not guilty to the charge. Magistrate Morley convicted him on the positive identification of a provost, who stated that he saw the corporal throw a stone and break a window. King was not arrested at the time, but the provost said he walked closer to him to make sure who it was. He added that he knew the corporal, and was certain it was he who threw the rock.

King's defense was based on facts that he was on guard duty at the camp during the evening. But soldier witnesses, including the sergeant of the guard, could not state positively that he was with the guard between 10 and 11 when the celebration broke into a minor riot and the windows were broken. King's turn on guard duty was between 3 and 5 a.m. the following morning.

Sgt. R. S. Nelson, who conducted the prosecution, stated that it was easy for the corporal in the turmoil to go down town and return to camp by the time he was supposed to be on duty.

The officer representing the corporal contended that it would be "fantastic" that he would go a mile down town, throw a rock through a window and return to duty. "It is a serious matter for an N.C.O. to leave his post when on duty," the officer declared.

Sgt. Nelson said rocks were being thrown from all sides when the picket was put around the building, and tension was high. He estimated about 500 people were crowded around the spot, both civilians and soldiers, although soldiers predominated.

Lieut. H. A. Turnhill, head of the provost company here, said it is the policy of his unit to assist the provincial police in such matters. Evidence disclosed that military authorities were holding a court of inquiry into the disturbances.

Cpl. King was said to have been assigned to duty on a magazine dump at the camp. It was a composite guard from the Pacific Infantry unit, and the only one posted that evening.

Victoria Boys' School Proud of Students' Record

Education, taken in its broadest sense to mean preparation for life on the mental, moral and physical planes, is the underlying principle of University School, residential and day school for boys at Victoria.

Boys are prepared for entrance into any university in Canada or the United States, and when conditions permit, in Great Britain also, at this long-established private school.

Emphasizing the value of school instruction, Rev. G. H. Barrett, headmaster, pointed out at the 30th annual speech day that the record of Old Boys in the two world wars is probably unequalled by any school of similar size in Canada. Thirty-eight have paid the supreme sacrifice, while 35 have won decorations, including one V.C., during the present war.

In addition to well-appointed school buildings, ten acres of playing fields are provided, with facilities for football, cricket and tennis. There is also a large, well-equipped gymnasium and tiled heated swimming pool. Gym work and games are supervised by trained instructors.

The U.S. durum wheat crop is estimated at 27,217,000 bushels, one of the smallest crops on record, and adding in the effect of the overseas demand stemming from Italy, it is expected that U.S. domestic supplies will be cut sharply.

Vets' Questionnaires Planned At Penticton

PENTICTON, Aug. 14.—A questionnaire is to be prepared by the Penticton and District Rehabilitation Committee and sent to all servicemen from this area whether at home or overseas.

This was the decision taken at a meeting of the committee held in the Board of Trade rooms with C. H. Tupper, chairman, presiding.

The questionnaire, which is to be compiled by Councillor A. A. Swift, secretary of the committee, will be based on those used in other communities with questions added to cover local conditions.

Second Big Bomber Lands At Penticton

PENTICTON, Aug. 14.—For the second time in less than two weeks a four-engine aircraft "sat down" on the Penticton airport when a Lancaster bomber landed last week.

It is the first Lancaster, in the history of the Penticton airport to land here. The bomber, captained by Flt-Lt. Richards, was on its way to the west coast when reports of bad weather over the coastal range necessitated the use of the Penticton airport until flying conditions improved.

Premature Peace News Touches Off Celebration

A jubilant, although premature V-J celebration developed into a riot in Vernon on Sunday evening.

After more than two hours during which feelings ran wild, even in the fact of the report that the first victory announcement was false, a window was broken in the government liquor store and police protection was quickly established.

Celebrants were mainly troops from Vernon Military Camp, many of them training for the Pacific Force, with a large number of civilians taking part.

To prevent further damage an armed guard was organized at the camp and a cordon placed around the liquor store. The guard carried rifles with fixed bayonets. No trouble resulted. Civilians were prevented from passing through the area in most cases.

Live rounds of ammunition were fired by troops in the army camp area, and a woman at Kalamalka Lake beach was grazed by what is confidently believed to have been a stray shot from the camp about half a mile away.

The woman, Mrs. Harry Whalley, who was at the beach with her husband, Sgt. Whalley, R.C.E.M.E., stationed in Vernon, received treatment for the wound from a medical soldier at the lake. Reports from the beach disclose that she was not seriously hurt and was able to walk. Mrs. Whalley was lying on her stomach in the sand when the bullet grazed her side.

Military police and armed guards were also brought into action at the camp to put a stop to the unruly manner in which the men fired the rifles. They are reported to have been shooting at the siren at the camp.

Constable Frank Regan, of the Vernon Provincial Police, was hit in the face by a stone as military and civilian police intervened when a window of the liquor store was broken.

No further damage or injuries have been reported and about three hours after the start of the celebration, the town was again quiet.

To quell the over-enthusiasm of the celebration, civic authorities opened the Vernon Civic Arena, where a free dance was held until mid-night. The idea was to give the troops a place to "blow off steam," and prevent further damage of property. The crowd at the arena was small, but the streets of the town also quietened down at this time.

Besides the liquor store, windows were damaged in the office of the Vernon Irrigation District, and the Associated Growers, located in the same block of buildings.

Vernon Provincial Police reported the following morning that two soldiers were apprehended and held by military authorities in connection with the breakage of windows. One soldier was seen throwing a rock at the windows, the report stated.

Flare bombs were set off on the streets. Two or three were set off at the corner of Barnard Avenue and Railway Avenue, exploding on the railway tracks and adjacent areas.

Hilarity and jubilation was the theme of the opening of the celebration. World War II was officially over, with civilians as well as soldiers taking part.

As pre-arranged, the fire alarm was sounded, and fire trucks travelled over the business and residential sections of the town with sirens wailing. This touched off the celebration before the retraction of the victory report was announced.

From then on the hilarity of the crowd became uncontrollable. As a fireman remarked: "We aren't going to run into the same mix-up as on V-E Day."

Fire engines continued round the town and before long were packed with soldiers and civilians, yelling and calling. Civilians at their homes became curious and within half an hour the main street of the city was packed.

Parades came and went from all directions. Soldiers marched about hand in hand with civilians, cars got into the procession, with honking horns, and before long they were packed with khaki-clad men. Some got onto the roof of the vehicles, others even clung to spare tires.

A number of men of the Caledonian Pipe Band started a victory parade with the pipes and drums sounding a rhythmic march which attracted the crowds, and before long there was a parade more than a block long.

The band went through the Chinese community of the town. The Orientals got into the spirit of the celebration and joined the parade. Before long fire crackers were popped on the street and the Chinese made merry in their traditional fashion.

Passage of motor vehicles on the main street was impossible. At one time a group of soldiers formed a cordon line which twisted its way up the street.

A Chinese soldier training for the Pacific War here was asked how he felt, and he said: "I don't know if I am feeling right now."

A few U.S. soldiers training here seemed very composed about the celebration and did not take part. Officers at the camp also stood on the street corners and watched. Soldiers of the parades consisted mainly of young privates training for the Pacific Force.

Civilians who got into the spirit of the occasion were largely young people. A number of young men and young women were seen taking part. Adults, stood and watched on street corners.

Soldiers grabbed flags and banners from wherever they could find them. Flags strung across the main street for Vernon Days were torn down as soldiers went under them either on the tops of cars or packed with civilians and troops on trucks.

Civilian motor vehicles which took part carried flags over the hoods as they purposely joined in the jubilation. Flags are also reported to have been taken down from government buildings and waved merrily in the parade.

Taxi drivers report having difficulties during the evening. One cab man reported a flare bomb was thrown under his vehicle at the military camp, and another said his cab was nearly overturned by a rowdy group of soldiers when he was making a trip.

Rock-Rabbits

Editor,

The Vernon News,

Sir:—If you go far enough and high enough away from town and streets and people, and come upon a rock slide and wait there awhile, the chances are that by and by you will hear a funny little squeak, surprisingly far-carrying and clear. And when you do, if you look well and carefully around you, you will probably see one or two little grey forms moving in and out amongst the rocks, or sitting inconspicuously and still on some rocky ledge here and there all over the slide.

These are Rock-Rabbits or Conies, true denizens of the high and lonely places, where the world is much the same as it was in the beginning, before civilization came to disturb and spoil.

I have watched and listened to them in various places, at the top of Sugar Mountain, around Peter's Lake, and far up the Stikine Pass, but it wasn't until this summer that I really got to know them, to gain an insight into their nature and habits, and to get friendly with them.

There is a rock slide about a mile away from the camp where a colony of Rock-Rabbits have their home. Recently it has been so quiet and isolated, for there was no road near, and few people ever came to puzzle or trouble them. But now the new road is cutting right through the slide and their old, far-away, wild world is rapidly changing and going. However, they don't know this yet, or if they do they are bravely hanging on to the end, as it were, as full of fun and contentment as ever—poor harmless little creatures.

When I first found them they were much the same as others I had seen elsewhere, timid, elusive and tantalizing, but after a while they seemed to get to know me, to lose some of their fear and apprehension, and after the sixth or seventh visit, even to welcome me, or at least to cease to worry.

They are very lovable things, these little dwellers of the rock slides, lovable and quaint, with their little wizened faces and little round ears, their quick, jerky, toy-like movements, their saucy, side-long glances and their short, tiny, defiant little cries.

I think that when the Creator first made them He was in a merry mood—or perhaps He was tired, and when He had them all finished, but their tails. He said with a sigh, or it might have been a smile:

"There, you'll just have to manage like that, although I know you look funny without tails."

And they've managed and looked funny without them ever since.

They are probably the least known of all our small, wild creatures and for everyone who has seen and heard them, I expect there are ten thousand who haven't, and perhaps more than that who don't know that they have, for it is usually only to those who love the lonely places and can find beauty in solitude that they reveal themselves.

I visit them nearly every evening now for I want to see as much of them as I can, and they don't live above ground very long. Although it is only mid-August I see that already they are making preparations for the long life underground for at these heights it is little more than four months that they stay above. I don't know how they enjoy or employ their time all during that long period of darkness, but oh! how they enjoy those few, brief months of summer, those months of sunshine and the glorious stillness of mountain evenings.

But now, and for a little while longer, the days are very warm and the baby Conies are basking and playing around amongst the rocks for more trusting and unafraid than their parents. And if you've never seen a baby Rock-Rabbit—a tiny speck in the vastness of a slide—in the evening of a summer's day looking with absolute trust into the apparent lifeless solitude around, you've missed one of the loveliest things in the world.

Two Sides To Milk Situation

In view of the threatened strike of milk producers in the southern Okanagan, district because they have been refused a further increase in the retail price of milk, the W.P.T.B. regional office in Vancouver issues the following review of the situation.

During the basic period the southern Okanagan producers received 12 1/2 cents a quart. On March 1, 1943, a producer subsidy of 25 cents per hundred pounds was granted, and on April 1, 1943, producers were granted an increase to 14 cents a quart.

Further increased. On October 1, 1943, the producer subsidy was further increased to 55 cents per hundred pounds. There was a seasonal reduction effective May 1, 1944 to 35 cents per hundred pounds but this went back to the 55-cent figure in October of that year.

On May 1, 1944 the subsidy again dropped to 35 cents but will be lifted to 55 cents next October. The milkmen in the southern Okanagan area have, therefore, received an increase of approximately $1. per hundred pounds of milk over their basic period price.

The Board points out that there has always been a shortage in milk production in the southern Okanagan area as compared with the consumer demand, but it is possible for distributors to bring in ample supplies of milk from Vancouver if they wish to.

The Board further points out that the increase in the subsidy must be taken into consideration as well as that of the producers, and that a further increase will place a hardship on families in the southern Okanagan.

All Are Brothers

walking cane. Cars raced up and down the streets; festoons of paper twirled. Sirens blew. Everyone said "Can it really be true?"

A young girl in a yellow dress was openly weeping. An elderly woman stood in the shade of a storefront with tears streaming down her cheeks. A young mother with a baby in her arms was gasping with sobs. Men and women were kissing, shaking hands, talking. "Here's to no more wars!"

Storekeepers bolted their doors while customers were filling their last wants. Others draped the windows with red, white and blue bunting. One store has the Scotch flag with the lion rampant entirely covering its entrance.

"This is my birthday," said one woman. Another said: "It's my wedding anniversary!" "We'll always remember this day," they agreed. They will too. They each have children in the services, and both in the Orient.

The tension, the anxiety, heartaches, sorrows of the long war years found vent in every citizen, each in his or her different way.

In the quiet churches, some knelt to pray.

A beam of light as it came through the stained glass, gothic window, played on the pale face of a young woman, down which a tear ran, unheeded and unchecked. Only the whiteness of her knuckles showed the tension under which she prayed.

Formalities were cast aside. Dignity took a back seat. All are brothers and sisters in a small town. They have shared in the dark days; they rejoiced together in victory. Every face bore a mask of relief, whichever form its expression took.

Happiness reigned, for the last gun had been fired.

The world was at peace that hot night of August 14, 1945.

And as darkness fell, the O.T.C. band played the songs of World War I which celebrated that armistice.

Bright Colors and Improved Styles for Fall Ladies' Wear

The trend this fall in ladies' ready-to-wear is for brighter colors than for the past three years. F.M. Shop-McDonald, of Vernon, has just returned from an extensive buying trip in Eastern Canada, where he visited some of the largest clothing manufacturing centers in the Dominion. Further, states Mr.

McDonald, styling is better than since 1942.

Tying in with victory and the consequent return of servicemen and the return to normal living, fall and winter clothing will be the gayest and most versatile in some time. However, many lines of necessity are in short supply, but owing to the firm's extensive connections in the East, Mr. McDonald does not anticipate much difficulty in maintaining the large stocks for which the F.M. Shop has been noted, even during the war years.

Stephenson, who recently returned from overseas, was accompanied by his wife and is spending the rest of his leave at her home in Revelstoke. Prior to the war his family lived in Vernon where he attended school.

Capt. H. P. Coombes, secretary of the Board of Trade, reported this week that the crop year for the province is placed at approximately 485 million bushels, the heaviest shipments since 1929, when 390 million bushels were handled. Exports of wheat and wheat flour during the crop year have been estimated at 300 million bushels.

The United Kingdom has set the wheat acreage goal for 1946 at 2,800,000 acres, compared with the goal for this season of 2,600,000 acres, and actual seedling of 2,855,000 acres.

Brigadier Opens Stampede, Crowns Queen of Events

Opening the big show this afternoon was Brig. James Curry Jefferson, O.B.E., D.S.O. and Bar, O.O. de Guerre and Palm. He is O.O. of the Pacific Infantry Training Battalions stationed here, and has been most co-operative in his efforts of assistance to the Kinsmen. He also crowned Beryl Maddin as Queen of 1945 Vernon Days.

Brig. Jefferson was a member of the Non-Permanent Active Militia in Edmonton, enlisting for active service on September 2, 1939 with the Loyal Edmonton Regiment as Major, the rank he held in the N.F.A. On December, 1939, he went overseas with the 1st Contingent, attached to the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, assuming command of the Regiment in 1942, when he was promoted to Lieut.-Colonel.

He saw action in Sicily, and was with the Canadian landing in Italy, and was in the battle of Ortona. In Sicily he won the D.S.O., and in Italy, the bar.

Brig. Jefferson returned to England at the beginning of 1944 to assume command of the 5th Canadian Infantry Brigade, was a month there, then transferred to the 10th Canadian Infantry Brigade. After initial landings on D-Day, he saw action in Normandy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

On May 5, 1945, he left Germany for Canada to command the Pacific Training Brigade, arriving in Vernon on June 4.

Kin Stampede

Chase, B.C. Champion for 1945, so far.

Dave Abrahamson, B.C. Representative of the Cowboy Protective Association and Buckaroo, a very well known bull rider in the United States, and who has placed in all the United States shows so far this year.

These are just a few of the cowboys who are "riding high" this year to the accompaniment of wild cheering from the hoarse throated crowds.

The Kitsilano Bays' Band under Arthur Delamont lends a really festive air to the proceedings. They have been brought to the city by the Kinsmen for Vernon Days, and are adding to the numerous attractions.

The hot weather, the crowds, the jubilation, the parades, floats, band, and the affair are just what 1945 Vernon Days will be long remembered by the throngs who are attending.

City gates entered into the spirit of the thing, and knowing that crowds of visitors were planning to attend the affair are just postponing their V-J holiday until convenient, and are serving meals as usual. The Scottish Daughters served a dinner on Wednesday and will put on a supper tonight, for Vernon Days visitors, in the Burns Hall.

The old-fashioned costumes are the final touch to the affair. Cowboys and gracious ladies who could have stepped out of a picture of a century ago, turn out to be none other than Vernon's professional and business men, and well-known city girls and ladies.

A record crowd of about 3,000 jammed the Kinsmen's stampede grounds, the park of Kamloops Road yesterday, Wednesday, when the Kinsmen opened their annual Vernon Days amid a blaze of sunshine.

Three prairie men carried off top laurels in the bareback steer riding: Gordon, Halkirk, Alta.; first; Harry Thomson, Black Diamond, Alta.; second; with Carl Olson and Wally Lindstrom, both of Calgary, tied for third place money.

Saddle bronc winners were Frank Voros, Hardisty, Alberta; first; Wally Lindstrom, Calgary, second; Dave Abraham, Cache Creek, B.C.; third, and Dave Clark, Osoyoos, fourth.

Charlie Chick of Calgary, suffered the only serious injury of the day. While taking part in the bareback bronc event in which he won prize money, his horse careened into the railings at the far end of the corral. The cowboy was rushed off to hospital in the army ambulance and it was found he had broken his ankle.

Closest judging of the day came in the bareback bronc event in which Alberta cowboys again took the limelight. Harry Thomson, of Black Diamond, one of three Thomson brothers attending, took first place with 355 points; Frank Voros, of Hardisty, Alta., was second with 354 points; Wally Lindstrom, Calgary, 351; with Calgary's Charlie Chick and Everett Vold of Bonanza, Alta., tied for third place, being awarded 349 points each.

Winners of the hilarious wild cow milking were: Mike Carlin, Chase, B.C.; Ben Louie, Vernon; Gordon, Donna Halkirk, Alta.; and Wally Lindstrom, Calgary, fourth. Carl Olson, the noted Calgary rider, won the wild horse race which closed the day's events. Dave Clark, of Osoyoos, was second, and George Tronson, of Vernon, third. Phyllis Cross, of Vernon, featured the three horse race, taking first place with 355 points; L. Price took third in the half mile open.

Andrew Sigalet Dies; Resided in District 45 Years

Andrew Anderson Sigalet, one of the district's early settlers, passed away in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday, August 14. Mr. Sigalet, who was in his 75th year, had operated a farm with a great deal of success at Mabel Lake.

Born in Russia in 1870, he came to Canada with his parents, sisters and brothers when 19 years of age. That was 56 years ago. The family first settled on a farm near Wetaskiwin, Alberta.

Mr. Sigalet was married there, and 45 years ago came with his wife to B.C., settling at first on the J. M. Smith Ranch at Lavington. This he leased for two years.

At Mabel Lake 43 years ago, Mr. Sigalet then pre-empted land at Mabel Lake and lived on his ranch there until his death. He had been failing in health for the past two years.

Through the farmers' journal, Cream Collector, Mr. Sigalet became known as the "Butterfat King," having led the competition for shipments to the Okanagan Co-operative Creamery.

While he operated the farm at Mabel Lake, Mr. Sigalet became actively interested in the hotel business. He was the proprietor of the Okanagan Hotel in Vernon which burned down in 1909, after which he purchased the old Jubilee Hotel and converted it into the Jubilee Hotel.

Surviving is his wife at Mabel Lake; two sisters, Mrs. Jack Reid, of Vernon; Miss Lydie Sigalet, of Mabel Lake, and a brother, Pete Sigalet, of Mabel Lake; also two sons, William A. Vernon and Roy Lumby.

Funeral services will be held on Friday, August 17 at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Rev. Carl Janow officiating. Interment will take place in the Vernon Cemetery. Campbell and Winter were in charge of arrangements.

Tourist Accommodation Needed at Penticton

PENTICTON, Aug. 14.—Penticton's board of trade wants to do something about the hundreds of people who come daily here, particularly in summer time, and who can find no accommodation.

"It obviously creates a bad impression when visitors here are turned away from all hotels and auto camps," stated President F. G. Eys, at a recent meeting of his executive.

Colorful Kiddies' Parade Witnessed By Thousands

Wednesday was kiddies' night. The town's young citizens turned out to the Vernon Kinsmen Club children's parade in basque and bonnet, in fancy costumes depicting other times and years; including cowboys, farmers and a miner; novelty outfits of all kinds; little girls with decorated doll buggies; wagons with pets, a big dog pulling a go-cart with its young occupant; cats, birds and a pig lamb; in fact a company which could have stepped out of the covers of a book fairy tale.

Members of the Kitsilano Boys' Band, in their colorful white and blue uniforms and scarlet-lined cloaks, led the parade, the Pacific Brigade Band bringing up the rear.

Thousands of citizens, visitors and servicemen lined the streets clapping and cheering the gallant little children as they made their way to the Arena from Railway Avenue on Barnard, West to Seventh and South to the Arena. The parade was significant in that there were more than twice as many entries than in any preceding year.

At press time the only prize winners names available are: Donald Dobson, Marilyn Taylor, Murray Dobson, Ann Carswell, Ronald Tucker, Donna Hawken, Corbally Schmidt and Deanna Gordon (together) and Charles Fisher. A complete list will be carried next week.

The Atomic Bomb

Much scientific matter has been written during the last 10 days about the atomic bomb.

And as the smoke and rubble of fact and fancy clear away, two things emerge which the mind of the common man everywhere can grasp.

They are: That in the Providence of God we, and not our enemies, perfected the discovery first. Secondly: That man, at once fascinated, horrified and terrified at the work of his hands, has released a discovery which will mark the dawn of a new era for weal or woe.

We go further. Either for the advancement of civilization, or its complete annihilation.

Commenting on the first point, it has been known for some time that our enemies have been trying to split the atom. It needs no highly colored imagination to picture the unnameable horror which would have been the consequence if one of these dreadful missiles had been dropped on the densely populated British Isles.

The use of the atomic bomb has brought our common enemy to its knees. We of the Western world do not comprehend the mentality of the Japanese, ruthless, cruel, who glory in inflicting torture and suffering, and who also glory in their own death. With their millions of population, this could mean dragging out the war interminably. Their military might should not be underestimated. They are a clever, shrewd and quick nation, dominated by their worship of the Emperor. A country which openly avowed to claim North America as its own. They are quite different from the peace loving Chinese with their attitude of non-aggression and their roots in the soil of centuries.

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill has this to say:

"This revelation of secrets of nature long mercifully withheld from man should arouse most solemn reflections. We must indeed pray that these awful agencies will be made to conduce to peace among the nations and that instead of wreaking measureless havoc upon the entire globe they may become a perennial fountain of world prosperity."

In the exquisite phrasing of our saintly forebears, as Christians for centuries we have prayed "for peace in our time."

One word can be altered in the light of recent events, "peace for all time."

Drain On Water

Restrictions are always irksome. Freedom to do what the fancy indicates at the moment has become our democratic habit.

Consequently, when citizens are urged to cut down their usage of water, and confine sprinkling hours to the evening, some look on this conservation of what they have, through time, come to look upon as being free as air, as just another in the seemingly endless chain of restrictions.

In this issue is carried a story which states that the water system laid years ago to serve the wants of some 3,000 inhabitants, is now supplying the hot weather needs of more than five times that number. This is without gardening requirements, or industrial usage.

This summer is the first for some years, that the Military Camp has been full. It will be recalled that when the 19th and 13th Brigades were stationed here, in late May or early June they went to Wainwright and elsewhere for summer manoeuvres.

It is a tale now oft told and sometimes heard with indifference, that the civilian population of the city has swollen. Houses built to accommodate an average family are now catering to three and more family units.

Training in the hot sun is not much fun. When the men get back to camp their first thought is a shower.

These are just a few facts to bring home to residents the great drain on the existing water carrying facilities.

In the light of these statements, therefore, most home owners will agree that reduction of sprinkling to three hours in the evening is not a great sacrifice.

The City by-law providing for a new program of water distribution is one which should be welcomed. True, another summer may not see the city in these straits, but the work planned will ensure a plentiful supply of water for many times the normal population of Vernon.

Farewell

A cursory glance during past weeks at the columns in this newspaper indicates that we have bidden a long farewell this summer to several of Vernon and districts' pioneer citizens.

This city is the poorer for their passing. It was they, who with courage, endurance, faith in God and the future, plus hard work laid the foundations of our community.

They lived through bad times — and good; in wars and peace, knew ups and downs; heat of summer, cold of winter. And in the light of their setting sun, they have gone home.

We pause in the midst of our thanksgiving, rejoicing and busy tenor of our ways to say farewell to these outstanding pioneers.

They have safely reached the other side — where "age shall not weary them."

Going Home

Going home, the mind turns over lonely thoughts, as sweet as clover.

Every beat of heart is fed on honey spilled on new warm bread.

Going home, the wheels are speeding.
"Faster, faster!" heart keeps pleading.

Quick, path, gate and door flung wide, open toward the hearth inside.

Going-home thoughts leap, each one like glad children in the sun.

—JOSEPH JOEL KEITH.

Welcome!

This week Vernon is privileged to welcome guests from near and far who are making merry in the good old summer time to the tune played by the Kinsmen Club, that live-wire organization of young men who really do things when they get started.

The celebration this year takes on an added jollity and significance. We have recently welcomed home a number of our men who have spent upwards of five years overseas. This week events in the Pacific have mounted swiftly to a climax, to give still further reason for rejoicing and fun.

This year no shadow lies across the path. The future dawns calm and clear, and the Kinsmen are among those who realize the responsibilities of our dearly won peace.

To our visitors, we say welcome. We hope you will have the good time you deserve, but we know you will. For two days the past will be forgotten. In helping the Kinsmen to make 1945 Vernon Days a banner occasion, visitors are also insuring for themselves the best of all possible holidays.

It's Victory!

The tenseness of waiting through Saturday, Sunday, Monday, and most of Tuesday, only served to accentuate the joy with which Vernon welcomed Victory.

It is said by those who know that never has such a joyful demonstration been known here during the 58 years of Vernon's colorful history.

A wave of rejoicing hit the city, and demonstrations of relief and thankfulness found vent.

It is a joyful day to record, and one in which we can take full credit. The achievement of final victory is the welding of individual service, sacrifice and skill. Vernon has not been lacking in any of these. She has given of her finest and best.

But as victory crowns our arms, we must not overlook the grave responsibilities of the peace.

A proper realization of these problems and an earnest endeavor to solve them, will be a fitting memorial to the living, and the dead, who made this hour of supreme triumph possible for us.

In the midst of our rejoicing we give grateful thanks to God, Who, in His mercy, has never forsaken us; Who has led us all the way; Who has saved by many, or by few.

Now families can be re-united; homes re-established; the terrible implements of war and destruction laid aside.

Instead of V-J Day, last Tuesday, August 14, will go down in history as Victory Day.

Current Manpower Situation

The prevailing Dominion-wide shortage of labor, foreseen earlier in the season, shows no immediate promise of abatement; rather, the demand for workers has remained practically stationary for several weeks past.

At July 20, only about 48,000 applicants for employment were registered in employment offices throughout Canada, as compared with almost 126,000 jobs to be filled.

Present labor shortages are accentuated by the shifting emphasis in production. The primary and excluding demands for workers for direct war production are now giving place to civilian production. In the leading essential industries such as farming, textiles, packing plants and the like. As wage rates, generally speaking, were more attractive in the manufacture of munitions and implements of war, the National Employment Service is encountering some reluctance not unnatural perhaps, on the part of workers to transfer over to peacetime industries.

Britain's Army Homes to House Bombed-out Folks

The former homes of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Field Marshall Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, together with other residences lent to high-ranking officers attached to Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force, are among the first large houses to be taken over for bombed-out families under the new rehousing powers conferred on local authorities here.

Armed with new emergency powers—town councilors in many parts of Britain are making sorties in their districts in search of empty properties. They are now empowered to post requisition notices on the door. If the premises are not re-occupied by their owners or a good reason given for their non-tenancy within 14 days, a homeless family can be installed.

The government circular follows the unofficial activity by "vigilantes," a movement started by private citizens in Brighton for the seizure of empty properties and installing needy families forthwith—a movement which has been spreading to other districts where the housing problem has become a major issue. Within a few hours of the announcement of the new powers, 60 properties in Brighton have been posted with requisition notices.

In London results were not so good, since most of the empty properties need extensive repairs. In St. Pancras, one of the first boroughs to use the new powers, 10 premises have been listed, but only one "acquired." Local boroughs declare their intention of using the new powers or requisitioning when premises have been put into repair.

Meanwhile there is criticism in some quarters that the government through the new powers is merely trying to shift responsibility for the housing shortage to local authorities.

The Manchester Housing Committee crystallized its views in the form of a resolution to the Ministry of Health. It is they the issue of circulars of little avail unless the government is prepared to satisfy repeated requests which have been made by local authorities for return of their staffs from military and other national service.

AS I SEE IT

By Elmore Philpott

App-Man Splits Atom

Even before the use of the new atomic bomb many people knew the margin of the narrow escape humanity had made from total disaster. The race to split the atom was world wide. It so happened that the Allies won. But, had Hitler been able to drag out the war another few months, the Nazis would also surely have had the use of atomic explosives.

Had Germany, Italy or Japan harnessed atomic energy before the Allies no living soul can tell to what appalling depths mankind might have been plunged. As it is now, the human race is faced with a two-sided picture:

When developed to the full the new source of energy could confer unbelievable benefits on mankind; but it could also make this a hell-on-earth.

The discovery and use of fire was the greatest turning point in the slow climb of the creature man to a state above the animals. In modern times, steam power has revolutionized society. Later the discovery of the internal combustion gasoline engine, bringing the automobile and airplane, wrought even more drastic changes.

Danger Evident In 1918

All the books ever written by economists, all the sermons ever preached, all the speeches ever made by politicians, had minor material effect on human affairs compared with the discovery that the same steam which would lift the lid off a tea kettle would drive ships, railroad trains, and turn the wheels of millions of factories.

Even after the First World War the danger that man might exterminate himself was clearly visible. Now it becomes infinitely more so. For this was the terrible truth: Man's moral sense and political capacity had changed very slowly over the centuries. True, there had been a slow upward climb. It is less than a hundred years since the most advanced nations of the west abolished slavery, either at home or overseas.

Less than a century ago, English women and children crawled in coal mines, with chains about their necks and running between their legs, pulling carts of coal behind them like draft animals. At about that time there were scores of petty offenses for which human beings could be hung—and were.

But the slow climb upward of the human family toward more kindly behavior has been offset by some titanic handslides. The German race back into the pit was the most catastrophic in all the history of the human race. For here was a people that led the world in many sciences and arts deliberately rejecting all the precepts and scruples upon which the whole structure of civilized culture had been built.

In Driver's Seat

Even before the atomic bomb, man's mechanical equipment had vastly outdistanced his moral capacity to be trusted to use it.

To use a homespun parallel: Man was like an old soue who used to drive to town in the horse and buggy to get drunk. Suddenly he found himself not riding home behind the old nag that would take him there safely—but at the steering wheel of a motor car which was capable of killing other people all along the way, unless expertly driven.

Now man, like the unreformed drunkard, finds himself driving with a source of power that staggers the imagination.

Great Changes Imminent
Whatever else it means, it means

For A Better World

"It is the responsibility of government to pursue policies that create conditions in which the initiative energy and resourcefulness of individuals can achieve rising standards of life."

That is the kernel of the job which the Dominion Government avows in its brief to the Reconstruction Conference.

More directly, what is set forth as the end result to be achieved from the conference is a better life for all Canadians, the smoothing out of booms and depressions. Ottawa's proposal, therefore, is the blueprint of the great experiment to make Canada depression-proof, which was outlined in the pre-election White Paper on Employment.

Whether the Dominion's scheme for a semi-managed economy is consistent with its avowed dependence on and espousal of the individual enterprise system, time alone will tell.

Vast plans for the spending of money on cradle-to-grave security will in many minds be a doubtful way of bringing forth energy or enterprise, and a doubtful approach to the problem of reducing the burden of taxes relative to incomes.

As one of the world countries most dependent on big exports, Canadian costs of production are vital to our general welfare. Taxes are a cost of production. If our costs of production do not make our products desirable in world markets we won't long have any security for anyone."

Okinawa Yanks Go Wild With Joy

American troops went wild on Okinawa which they conquered less than two months ago when they heard radio reports that Tokyo had said Japan would accept the Potsdam surrender ultimatum. They fired off guns and flares. Tracers criss-crossed the sky. Men yelled and beat on buckets. They hammered one another's backs shouting:

"The war's over."

The display of pyrotechnics was greater than any ever seen during Japanese suicide attacks.

Searchlights were turned on. Machine guns opened up. Bullets were falling everywhere.

"We'd better get into a foxhole, somebody's gonna get hurt," they said.

Mayor of Cologne To Rebuild City

The new Mayor of Cologne, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, is making plans for the rebuilding of the city that had a pre-war population of 768,000 and a post-war population of 200,000. The population will grow to 500,000, the Luxembourg radio said in a German-language broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

The broadcast said that Dr. Adenauer estimated that 200,000 out of 250,000 buildings in the city were destroyed.

that there is not enough room in this shrinking world for 66 separate and sovereign nations, each a law unto itself—each with secret weapons—each able to wage war on a neighbor.

The atomic bomb makes establishment of world government, on a humane, democratic basis, the most important objective for every intelligent human being. For if we do not get it in time, some army, maybe consisting of but a few men, will sooner or later literally blow this planet to hell.

The Australian Airmen Incident

Under the Empire Air Training Plan thousands of young men from Australia and New Zealand have come to Canada. One large group arriving by boat at San Francisco came up to a Canadian Pacific coast terminus by train. No official mention was made of their expected arrival or time of departure, yet on both occasions groups of the Australians' relatives and friends assembled at the depot to greet them.

How Did They Know?

No newspaper had carried a line about these Australians. Security Officers had taken every precaution to keep the information secret. But well-meaning relatives, having inside information, have talked out of turn. The enemy, whose agents are everywhere, could thus have gained valuable information as to numbers and disposition of our air trainees.
